Darrell Shoemaker brought out some laughs yesterday at the Rotary Club when he introduced his program.

The program was given by B. F. Harwood, district telephone manager for West Kentucky. Darrell told the Rotarians that the program had been arranged for two months, some time before the company made an appeal for higher rates.

It was a good program and the picture shows operations that could not be explained in other ways.

One part that was especially interesting was the laying of a co-axial cable over fields, swamps and a river. The cable is the thing that brings TV programs (don't ask us how) from New York to Nashville and Memphis, and even from overseas.

As Darrell introduced the speaker he told of the importance of the telephone in the life of today. Just as he told how important the telephone is, the telephone rang appropriately in the club house kitchen.

This has nothing to do with telephones, but George Overbey and John Conger swore up and down that the following is true.

They said they saw a bass chasing a minnow and the bass was so concentrated on his job he didn't notice the nearness of the lake shore. Just went right up on the bank, they said.

It was such a new fish story, we forgot to ask them if they picked up the bass, or whether he flopped back into the water.

Send in your Easter Serl contribution.

Congratulations to Mr. Jesse Sexton on his birthday Wednesday. May he have many more.

D. L. Divilbia and Mrs. attended the 52nd anniversary of the Battle of Shiloh, Sunday at Pittsburg Landing, Tennessee.

Attending were Major General U. S. Grant the 3rd, and others, sub.

U. S. DEVELOPS FLOUR FOR MEXICAN DISHES

CHICAGO — American scientists have developed a special flour that lends itself to Mexican dishes.

Borrowing the know-how from Mexican scientists, the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology perfected a tortilla flour. It has already passed the sternest test—acceptance by the Mexican people themselves.

The concoction will go into the making of tortillas, tamales, chili, corn chips, enchiladas, tostadas and other south of the border specialties.

CORRECTION
The prices on the shoe advertisement for Littleton's Store in Wednesday's issue were reversed. The Connie halter pumps should have been advertised at $2.95 and the Jacqueline shoes at $10.95.

46 Die In Air Crashes Thursday

By UNITED PRESS
At least 46 persons were killed Thursday and 21 others were missing, according to a report from the U.S. Navy.

A South African Comet jet airplane with 21 persons aboard, three of them Americans, was believed to have crashed into the Tyrrhenian Sea 100 miles south of Naples.

A U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane was also believed to have crashed into the sea between Salerno and the northern shore of Sicily.

The pilot reported there was no trace of survivors.

The plane, carrying 14 passengers and seven crewmen, was on the home to Cairo leg of a flight from London to Johannesburg.

The three Americans aboard were identified tentatively as O.L. Anderson, American Fork, Utah; R. L. Wilkinson, Manchester, Mass.; and F. R. Harrison, no address available.

The plane was on loan to South Africa from the British Overseas Airways Corporation, which immediately ordered Comet flights suspended throughout the world.

Thirty-seven persons were killed at Moose Jaw, Sask., Thursday when a training plane rammed a four-engine airliner of Trans-Canada Airlines. The dead included all 35 persons aboard the airliner, the pilot of the training plane and a cleaning woman who was trapped in a house onto which the wreckage fell. All other victims were residents of Canada, Britain or Scotland.

Three separate investigations into the disaster began today. An inquest also was scheduled to start.

At Oxnard, Calif., four Air Force men were killed Thursday night when a training plane rammed a four-engine airliner of Trans-Canada Airlines. Fortress Defenders Wait For Another Red Onslaught

HANOI, Indochina, Apr. 9. — Communist artillery pounded Dien Bien Phu with a heavy barrage early today in an apparent prelude to a third major onslaught on the battered French fortress.

Heavy mortars and 105-millimeter howitzer dropped shells across French bunkers and trenches at point blank range from newly-dug positions.

French bombers, including newly arrived American B-29s, were directed immediately to blast Communist artillery positions.

French and loyal Indochinese defenders of Dien Bien Phu waited grimly behind their barbed wire and machine guns for waves of charging Red infantrymen to come at them again.

The strategic fortress in northwest Viet Nam already has withstood two of the bloodiest assaults of the seven-year Indochina War.

Col. Christian De Castries, commander of Dien Bien Phu's "Fighting Pools," told his wife in a radio-telephone call to Hanoi Thursday night that morale at the fortress was "excellent."

De Castries advised his wife he expected Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap to make the third big attack soon.

"My men are ready to meet the Viet Minh Communist attacks with the same heroism as heretofore," De Castries said.

For four days Vo has been regrouping his forces and wiring up reinforcements to plug the holes in his ranks.

The French have prepared for the attack by stocking Dien Bien Phu's underground storerooms with tons of food, medicine and ammunition.

FURNITURE MAKING ENGAGES THIS PAIR

ATLANTA — (AP) — The "do-it-yourself" trend and the suggestion of a tree surgeon led a couple into building their own furniture before the wedding.

Ann Kollock and Tony Hamilton plan to be married in June. But in the meantime, most of their dates are in a basement workshop at Ann's home, where the couple is making enough furniture to outfit an apartment. To date, they have enough for living room and bedroom, and have spent only $2.66.

Furniture includes an oak coffee table, a dining table and chairs and a bookcase-table combination. Tony's only training in wood-working was in a high school shop course. He furnishes the muscle while his fiancée provides the know-how. She works as a kitchen planner.

The project started with a suggestion from a tree surgeon friend who had cut down a diseased oak. He thought that slabs from the oak would make attractive coffee tables. A lot of sweating turned the gnarled wood into a table. For legs they used steel rods, securing them with a drill press, and then slipping a section of lead pipe over them, bending it to the desired length.

WATERS and WOODS
By Ben Rovin

SQUIRREL PROSPECTS GOOD

Got to thinking about hunting this last week in spite of the good fishing season and reasonable weather. Noticed that the squirrel population in the county shows prospects for a good season this year. Already several young ones are running around in the woods taking lessons on how to avoid man and beast. They are giving the tree buds fits, nearly stripping some they like best, but there are far too many trees in comparison to the bushy tails for them to do any real damage to the trees. The good part about it all is that the grays seem to be more numerous than they were last year. They will stay with us if we have enough rain.

Contests Reminder

Now that the big ones are hitting at the lake, when you get one, don't get in such a rush to get him home that you don't use him to win yourself a nice prize in one of the contests of the area. There are several to choose from: Kentucky Lake Festival, Field and Stream, The Courier Journal, The Nashville Tennessean, for all classes and species, the Calloway County Sportsman Club, for members of the club, and the Murray Bass Company, for the largest crappie of the week and more than one can be entered. Be sure to have witnesses, get the facts, and send them in.

This Week's Reports

PAUL BUTTERWORTH and his small son, PAUL JR., scouted into a variety of species fishing out of the Cobb. They boated 2 striped bass, 2 black bass, 7 crappie and one catfish weighing 2 1/2 pounds. All taken fishing with minnows in shallow water.

The new coach for the next school term at Murray Training School, Garrett Beshear, tells of 15 crappie that he caught at Cypress Creek. He said that he only fished 45 minutes, which gives him an average of more than one fish every three minutes. Maybe this is the signal that some of you "I'm waiting 'til they really go to biting" people have been looking for, so go to it.

An assortment of baits, minnows, and the Dime Jim and Hawkeye Wiggler lures, paid off for ERNEST CLEVELAND JR., last week with 3 smallmouth bass and 10 crappie being strong. He picked them up below the dam on the Irvin Cobb and Lynchburg Rivers.

Fishing just out from George Hart's cabin on Bloody, Ray Cable and his son-in-law, M. Sgt. Ted R. Miller, netted 22 "lace-size" crappie. Cable said that they had only two or three when they found a school and got the rest of the string in about ten minutes.

Four Limit On Crappie Another fine group of reports comes from W. F. Harris, Calloway Minnow Garden owner, who tells us of four men that limited on crappie last week.

When two men in a boat catch the limit of crappie (30 each) that is bringing them in by the tub full. That is exactly what Connie Page and Johnny P. Morgan did last Saturday at Cypress. The next day, Morgan fishing this time with Charles Stanford of Fulton, Morgan caught 26 and Stanford limited with 30.

It seems that J. P. would go to Cypress, catch a hefty string, and spout off about them in Fulton; invariably someone would then say "Why don't you take me with you tomorrow?" and he would, in fact Morgan went 7 straight days and got fish all of them. He did say, however, that the day he brought back just 20 "was sort of a bad day". We wish we could have a few "bad" days.

Marshall Edding and James Bennett, fishing two days last week, caught 16 one day and 30 the other. One in their catch of crappie weighed 2 1/2 pounds.

Some fellows by the name of CARTER and WILLIAMS eased into Cypress and carried away 44 nice crappie. FRED ORR, Moyfield, caught 26 crappie and BOYD UNDERWOOD from Fulton lugged home all 30 of his limit catch. Another Moyfield man, KEATH WHEATSTONE, picked up 14 crappie out of Cypress last week.

A couple of Kirksey managed to get off to the lake after it rained out their work the other day and too, they managed to bring home fish for their trouble. RALPH GINGLES landed 5 crappie and his brother ROB, netted 5. As far as wet weather fishing is concerned, everyone that is willing to go seems to do as well, or better, in the rain as on a "Beautiful Day".

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—The limp and showman names of the fight world were faced today with the prospect of going back to work against long-avoided opponents who were deliriously simply because they were too good for their own good.

The crack in the select heavyweight circle, as example, came in recent upset victories in Hurricane Jackson and Briton Dan Cockell over Dan Bucceroni and Roland LaStarza, respectively. The Philadelphia butcher boy and tickling Rolfe now will have to gamble in hopes of getting back into the Rocky Marciano rumba line.

All of which is going news to such patiently-waiting clouters as Cleveland Williams, Bill Gilliam, Oakland Billy Smith and Nino Valdes, to name a few. They are typical of those on the outside looking in without much hope. Up to this point, all of the so-called challengers were very wary about the possible calibre of their opponents. They didn't want to risk their place in line, unless it was a sure thing.

In a way, Marciano upset the dope bucket himself merely by limiting his little appearances to two curtain calls annually. Eventually the standees began to get a bit hungry dining on expectations. Thus Bucceroni, ranked No. 3, went in against Jackson and the Hurricane blew him right out of line.

Now Bucceroni must fight his way back. It isn't an impossible job, because it only takes one or two spectacular performances for a heavyweight to arrive front and center. Proof of this is Jackson, the new rage of the heavyweight world after gaudy wins over Rex Layne, Clarence Henry and Bucceroni.

It leaves a work opening for fellows like Smith, Williams and Gilliam. Not that they may go right to the top, but at least they figure to get a chance.

Consider the case of Oakland Billy, who became something of a laughing stock when he romped out of the ring in a coast bout with Archie Moore. Billy wasn't scored he was avoiding a personal fatality.

Some gentlemen with nebulous reputations but very real revolvers advised Billy that they were counting on him to lose handsily. With the fight too close for comfort, Billy took off for the benefit of his future health. But he ran fight, and may still prove it.

Williams is one of the best prospects around, but he is so threatening that he can't get a "name" fighter to climb through the ropes against him. His opponents have been fellows such as Baby Boozie, Candy McDaniels, Bagseyev Holmes and Graveyard Waters—actual people—but nobody you'd recognize unless you happen to be related to them.

It goes down into the other divisions this way, too, with many fighters, unable to get their "break". Look at welterweight Johnny Saxton, a member of the start new churches and to help strengthen the ministry of the church in places now inadequately served. Most of the amount contributed was given on "Church Extension Day" observances. Since some churches could not observe the day during March, the total raised during the current church extension drive is expected to climb considerably as the weeks go by. The church extension appeal came on the heels of an announcement by Bishop William T. Watkins, Louisville, that at least 40 new Methodist congregations are needed in the state. The bishop is in charge of the church in Kentucky and Western Tennessee. The drive to build new churches in Kentucky is a part of a national plan of Methodists to build 3,000 new churches in the next four years.

Methodists Give For New Churches

Louisville, Ky. — A total of $104,827 was given by Kentucky Methodists during March to help

Funds raised in the Kentucky campaign will be used within the districts where they are raised, according to the Rev. James W. Averitt, Louisville, director of church extension for the Methodist Louisville Conference.

The total amount raised during March was compiled and announced by Mr. Averitt and the Rev. Edward L. Tullis, Frankfurt, director of church extension for the church's Kentucky Conference.

For Essential Phosphorus for Grasslands AERO-PHOS Florida Natural Phosphate

Before planting legume-grass mixtures this spring, disk in a heavy application of AERO-PHOS, or use as a top dressing on level lands where erosion is not a factor.

One application of AERO-PHOS supplies essential phosphorus for many years. However, soils well-stocked with natural phosphate produce better crops when mixed fertilizers are applied annually for grasslands improvement. AERO-PHOS should be used in addition to mixed goods or superphosphate recommended at seeding time.

Cherry Corner News

APRIL 3, 1954

The last two days of March were cold. Eighteen years ago the second day of April was a very cold cloudy day and snow was in the air most of the day. Ofus Outland's father, Mr. Rob Outland, passed away that night at the age of seventy-eight.

Hyacinths and Jonquills are blooming now in about every yard I have seen. Iris and tulips are about ready to bloom.

Several women of the Cherry Corner Church met at the church Tuesday afternoon to quilt a very pretty applique friendship quilt for Rev. and Mrs. Garnett Moss. Each block for the quilt was of a different design and Mrs. Charlie Buey put the blocks together with pink percale. Mrs. Hugh Hurt furnished the domestic for the lining and about eighteen or more did the quilting.

Rev. Harrel Thurman a former Church, was guest speaker at the Cherry Corner Church, Wednesday evening March 24, with an interesting message concerning prayer. March 24 was this writer's birthday and I was informed that I had a great niece born that day in Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pitts of Albany, Oregon, have a baby girl. Mrs. Pitts was the former Miss Maudie Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Parker of South 8th Street. We haven't yet learned the name of the little miss.

Mrs. Hassel Shelton and her daughter, Barbara, recently entertained the girls of the Senior class of the New Concord High School, with an all night visit in the Shelton home. There are twelve Senior girls and Barbara is one of the twelve.

Mrs. Ruby Forrest's father, who has been sick for some time has been in a Nashville hospital for surgery.

Mrs. Ennis Smith of Mayfield was stricken with paralysis, she is the sister of Mrs. Addie Farris, who passed away a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Henry spent several days last week in Metropolis, Ill., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Woodson Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. James Herndon were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ofus Outland. Mrs. Eugene Garland and children have gone to Detroit, where her husband has been working for several weeks.

The Sunday School attendance at Cherry Corner is growing each Sunday. Bro. Thurman reminded us when he spoke to us, on Wednesday night, that it certainly hurt a pastor's heart for his church members to stay away from Sunday school and church.

Rev. Garnett Moss is bringing very interesting messages each Sunday, leading up to the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus, using scripture from the book of Mark.

Mrs. Rhona Baucum of Mayfield and Mrs. Cora Lassiter of Murray were visitors at the Cherry Corner Church, recently.

I was recently a visitor in the home of Mrs. Ellis Dick, to see her sister, Mrs. Holloway, who has been sick all winter. Mrs. Dick tells us she has a granddaughter now in Detroit, as Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Dick have a baby girl.

Mrs. Kellie Burton's mother, Mrs. Oliver, has been sick, but is reported better.

Maybe the warmer days will soon be here and then they will soon get too warm to suit us, then we'll all be looking for shady places.

No Need For A Bigger H-Bomb, Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told a news conference today that he knows of no reason to build hydrogen bombs more powerful than the United States now possesses.

The Chief Executive also told reporters that he is not afraid that Russia might attempt to build progressively larger hydrogen bombs even though this country has no intention of doing so.

The President was asked specifically whether, in the light of recent tests in the Pacific, this country intends to build progressively larger H-bombs.

UK Faculty Change Made

LEXINGTON (AP) — Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky, announced three administrative and faculty changes.

Dean Elvis J. Stahr Jr., of the U. of K. College of Law was given the additional title of University provost.

Dr. Donovan explained that Stahr will "engage in presenting requests to foundations and individuals for funds to support desirable educational programs that the university is prepared to conduct."

He added that he had been considering for some time advising the university board of directors to appoint an official who "could contact various foundations and private individuals who might be disposed to leave their estates to the university."

PAGE THREE

Stahr's appointment takes effect July 1 and will be for two years. Dr. A. D. Kirwan, who formerly was dean of students and dean of men, was relieved of his administrative duties at his request so that he may devote his full time to teaching, historical research and writing. He was promoted from associate professor to full professor for the change.

Dr. Leslie Martif, now assistant director for counseling, was appointed acting dean of men to replace Kirwan and the office of dean of students was abolished.

Dr. Donovan also formally announced the naming of Dr. Robert L. Mills, former head of the Bureau of Administration and Finance of the State Department of Education as registrar.

Dr. Mills' appointment was announced last week at Frankfort.

Day Nurseries Grow With Labor Force

CHICAGO (AP)—The first day nursery in the U.S. opened in New York City 100 years ago, but today there are more than 3,500 throughout the country.

The American Society of Planning Officials cited those figures in a study of the development of the day nursery as a national institution.

Behind the figures, the society said, is the story of mothers joining the labor force in ever-increasing numbers through the depression of the 1930's, through World War II, and in the present period of defense status.

The society said the number of working married women with children under 18 rose from 1,500,000 to 3,282,000 during the years from 1940 to 1951.

The need for day nurseries can no longer be classified as a temporary or emergency one, the society said.

Floor wax applied to rods in clothes closets will permit hangers to slide back and forth readily.

In Any Event Better Not Take This Chance

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—A Superior Court jury of 10 men and two women has agreed that kissing a girl does not constitute an indecent liberty.

The jury deliberated for 90 minutes before declaring Shred Baker innocent of taking indecent liberties when he kissed a 15-year-old baby-sitter.

Throughout the case, attorneys struggled to explain the technical difference between "indecent" and "improper." The defense attorney said Baker did not deny kissing the girl, but said the issue was a question of impropriety rather than indecency.

Mrs. Herbert Farris Opens Home For Meet Of Group II Of CWF

The lovely new home of Mrs. Herbert Farris on the Olive Boulevard was the scene of the meeting of Group II of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church held Tuesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock.

Mrs. Walter F. Baker presented the program for the afternoon. She discussed missions and used a portion of the book, "Great is the Company."

The devotion was given by Mrs. Arlo Sprunger. Mrs. Rupert Parks, chairman, presided at the meeting.

During the social hour Mrs. Farris served delightful refreshments to the seventeen persons present.

BETRAYAL AND CRUCIFIXION

John 13:17-20

This world has numerous places of historical interest and they attract multitudes of visitors. Many of these places thrill us and fill us with a deep sense of ecstasy. Among the various Bible scenes, for which we cherish a high regard, none stands out so prominently in the mind of Christians as the place called Calvary. It was there that Jesus bore our sins in His own body on the tree.

I. The Crucifixion.

John 19:17-18

The picture of Christ passing out of Jerusalem, under the crushing weight of the cross, knowing that eye-long He would be nailed to it, is a scene for meditation rather than exhortation. When He stumbled and fell under his cross, the soldiers had Simon of Cyrene to carry it for Him. Upon their arrival at Golgotha, the hill with the appearance of a skull, the well-hardened soldiers proceeded methodically to nail the prisoners in their respective crosses. Death by crucifixion was the most horrible and shameful which human ingenuity could devise.

Note the position in which Christ was placed at His crucifixion—between two malefactors. Thus was fulfilled the prophecy recorded in Isaiah 53:12. "He was numbered with the transgressors." One of the robbers realized his need and received Christ as his Saviour, while the other rejected Him. What each did with Christ determined his destiny, as is true of all others. To receive Him is to be saved; to reject Him is to be lost.

II. The Charge.

John 19:19-22

It was customary to place an inscription over the cross, stating the crime for which the victim suffered. Pilate wrote the inscription which revealed the reason for the death of the Saviour. It was written in three languages, then in common usage—Hebrew, the language of religion; Greek, the language of culture; and Latin, the language of government. The charge was written in these three languages, and placed above His head, so that all who passed by could read it for themselves. "And the writing was, Jesus of Nazareth the King of the Jews." Because Pilate labelled the dying Saviour "the King of the Jews," the Jews became furious. They demanded that he alter what he had written to the effect that it was Christ's claim that He was "the King of the Jews." Pilate refused to comply with their demand saying, "What I have written I have written." Thus he fastened upon the Jews the stigma of crucifying their King.

III. The Corroboration.

John 19:23-24

Utterly insensitive to the fact that they were doing so, the soldiers corroborated the prophetic scriptures in detail. Blindly ignorant of the contents of the Word of God, they were fulfilling them to the letter. According to the law they could claim the garments which Christ wore. After dividing all of them except his seamless robe, they proceeded to gamble for it. "They parted my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture." Psalm 22:18. This is an illustration of how hard and callous men may be in scheming and acting for personal gain under the very shadow of the cross.

IV. The Consolation.

John 19:25-27

Mary, the mother of Jesus, was faithful to Him to the very end. She stood near the cross during those horrible mockeries. Her presence, along with that of the other two Marys and John, must have brought great comfort to the heart of Christ. It required great love and genuine courage to stand there.

Jesus Christ was not only a model Son in His youth, but He continued to honor His mother to the very day of his death. It was a beautiful and tender care which He manifested for her while He was hanging on the cross. At the time of His greatest anguish in an act of tender thoughtfulness, Christ Jesus provided for His mother the best care in the home of one whom He knew He could trust to do his very best for her. His action in that regard, while enduring the terrible agony of that cross, has sanctified filial affection for all time. What marvelous compassion it was which led Him to forget His own sufferings and to think of the needs of His dear mother.

V. The Culmination.

John 19:28-30

Near the end of His six hours on the cross Christ uttered one word, "Teles," which was translated, "It is finished." That was probably the greatest word ever uttered. It was verily a shout of triumph. It was an exclamation of supreme satisfaction. It was the cry of a victor as He saw the defeat of His foe. His death was sacrificial, substitutionary and sufficient.

It is well for us to remember that we are the children of our parents as long as we and they live. Having reached maturity and having a family of one's own does not relieve one of the responsibility of caring for his parents. One marvels at the carelessness and unconcern of those who have time and money for everything else and yet neglect their parents.

To finish a work means to bring it to a successful completion. When Christ died, all that the hatred of Satan and the malice of men could devise was finished. His great redemptive work was finished. All that He started out to do was accomplished. It is our part simply to accept the finished work of Christ.

America's Ability To Defend Self Against A-Bombs Better

By CHARLES CORDREY

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—America's ability to defend itself against an attack has improved rapidly in the last four years and will rise sharply in the years ahead.

To be sure, military authorities find no cause for boundless optimism when they weigh the American defense problem against Russian ability to pounce on an atomic attack. There is no complete defense, and one H-bomb can wreck a city, incinerate its people.

Neither, however, do those familiar with the gigantic tasks see any justification for hysteria. Undoubtedly moved by Russian H-bomb developments, the administration has determined to "enhance and accelerate" continental defenses.

Significant evidence of that is the decision to devote a larger portion of the Air Force to the old 143-wing plan. 39 wings were to be air defense units. Under the military "new look," there will be 37 such wings. And science and the aircraft industry now are turning out electronic warning devices, aircraft and weapons of vastly increased performance and power.

But air defense is not a neat package that can be segregated from other elements in American military strength. Whatever encouragement about continental defense that is found in military quarters is based also on such vital factors as these:

1. The free world's far-flung alliances, growing military strength, intelligence nets and detection systems are reducing the earlier danger of all-out surprise attack with no warning at all.

2. Russia's ability to deliver atomic weapons, based on information available here is still much inferior to America's.

3. Any Russian attack would be an act of suicide by the Kremlin.

President Eisenhower has made crystal clear that the United States' retaliatory capacity is overwhelming. There are both atomic and hydrogen weapons that can destroy cities and America has the superior air power to deliver.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has told the Senate Armed Services Committee a purely defensive system therefore will not get an undue share of our military resources. The "greatest single deterrent" to Soviet attack is the counterattack the Strategic Air Command would deliver at once.

The Air Defense Command, which would have to blunt the first blow, now mounts about 1,000 interceptor planes, many of them heavily armed with rockets. They are deployed along all the approaches a bomber attack might follow. The radar warning net, still sketchy considering its vital importance, is improving and is arrayed in some depth from the far northern avenues to North America down to major individual targets.

For last-ditch defense, the Army Anti-Aircraft Command operates radar-aimed 90 mm and 120mm guns in target areas.

Strung through the continental defense system are 333,000 part-time civilian members of the Ground Observer Corps, spotting unidentified planes and funneling information to Air Defense Command centers.

Nobody knows how many bombers could get through the defense system. That would depend on scores of factors peculiar to each raid, such as weather, approach path, condition of detection devices, amount of advance warning, human mistakes.

But all military authorities appear to agree that 100 per cent protection is not in the cards. The aim in air defense must be to keep the price so high, attrition so heavy, that the enemy cannot sustain an attack. And, above all, to protect our retaliatory force's bases and national industrial resources for the overwhelming counterattack.

'WEST POINT OF THE AIR'

Gen. Carl Spaatz Lt. Gen. Hubert H. Harnois

SEVEN SITES shown on the map are the chief possible choices for a "West Point of the Air," authorized in a law signed by President Eisenhower. A five-member board to be named by U. S. Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott is to make the site selection. Two retired USAF generals shown above will be on the board. A study of sites got underway in 1949, and was reduced to these seven from a list of some 250. Now it has grown again, to around 400, with letters bombarding Talbott. (International)

The immensity of the problem is clear when it is realized that a few atomic bombs, fewer hydrogen bombs, can do as much as an entire campaign in World War II.

That puts a premium on early detection of attacking planes, instant warning to interceptor stations, and aircraft that can climb like rockets and track down their quarry with radar eyes.

Progress now is toward making much of this operation automatic. New types of radar will give sound as well as sight warnings of approaching planes and electronic devices will flash word automatically.

For point defenses, the big anti-aircraft guns will be supplanted by the Army's NIKE guided missile. A little later will come pilotless fighters like the Air Force's F-49 Bomarc, launched from the ground, and the F-98 Falcon, launched from the air.

But the power of the offense will march apace too, so that what 50 bombers might do today, two possibly can do on a not too remote tomorrow.

This year there will be an estimated 330,000 new cancer cases in the U.S., the American Cancer Society estimates.

The betatron, producing 30,000,000 volts or radiation, is used in cancer treatment, the American Cancer Society says.

If farmers gave away the wheat in a 20-cent loaf of bread, it would still cost the consumer 16.8 cents. From 30 to 90 percent of the consumer's dollar goes for such things as shipping, storing, processing, and distributing, according to the Kentucky Farm Bureau. These things are fine, but do not increase the amount of food for the consumer's stomach.
